What is a Master Therapist?

AMERICAN
PSYCHOTHERAPY
ASSOCIATION[®]

The Master Therapist Designation

Designation as a Master Therapist is the highest honor the American Psychotherapy Association can bestow upon a member. It recognizes those exceptional professionals, such as psychotherapists, psychologists, psychiatrists, psychoanalysts, social workers, counselors, pastoral counselors, marriage and family therapists, clergy, psychiatric nurses, and other helping professionals, who have done the following:

- Dedicated and committed their lives to helping people
- Demonstrated a mastery of psychotherapy skills and knowledge
- Made significant contributions to the advancement of their fields and professions
- Established careers that have been distinguished by consistent, high quality work and adherence to the highest ethical standards
- Devoted themselves to humanitarian efforts, charitable works, and actions that have contributed to the betterment of society

The Master Therapist credential is the professional designation that demonstrates to colleagues and clients the holder's significant and enduring career contributions.

Application Process

To apply for the Master Therapist designation, applicants must hold Diplomate status within the American Psychotherapy Association and have a minimum of 10 years of experience in the mental health field. In addition, applicants must complete one of the following:

- Present an approved, one-hour minimum, workshop at an American Psychotherapy Association National Conference
- Write an approved continuing education article for the Annals of the American Psychotherapy Association
- Submit an approved online continuing education course to the American Psychotherapy Association

Guidelines concerning the development of the project must be met, and the board must approve the abstract for the presentation, article, or course. The project must be presented, published, or completed to be counted towards task completion.

Applicants should submit a portfolio of the following documentation:

- Current Curriculum Vitae
- Documentation of service to professional associations, including offices held, committees on which you have served, and roles as a keynote speaker, chair, or discussant at professional meetings
- List of dissertations, theses, books, chapters in books, journal articles, papers published in conference proceedings, case studies, and book reviews
- Photocopies of degrees, diplomas, certificates, and licenses
- Records of community service
- Awards received from professional associations, institutions of higher learning, community service organizations, etc.
- Two letters of recommendation from professional colleagues describing your practice, professional activities, and commitment and contributions to the field
- Case studies that demonstrate the positive impact your work has had on individuals, families, or groups

The $995 passage fee includes the designation application as well as one National Conference registration fee and banquet ticket. Conference tickets must be used within 24 months of submission of the Master Therapist application.

“The Master Therapist designation is an honor bestowed upon those who have excelled in the understanding and advancement of the field of psychotherapy, demonstrated exceptional contributions to their clients and community, and improved society. It is a clear recognition of their excellence.”

Dr. Daniel Reidenberg, PhD, FAPA, CRS, Master Therapist, Chair, Executive Advisory Board, American Psychotherapy Association
